Happy Spring Fiber Friends,

This season brings blossoms and new beginnings. Because of all of you our new beginning has been a successful one. Thank you students and parents from the Sacramento Waldorf School and the Rudolf Steiner College for the warm welcome Babetta's Yarn and Gifts has had to the community. Thank you to the Camellia City Stockinettes for your patronage and all your help in getting the word out about us as well as making me feel welcome into Sacramento's growing population of knitters and crocheters. Many thanks to ALL our new friends with a special nod to a couple of area knitty bloggers for their great reviews. Together we can carry on the traditions of the art and pleasure of handwork and hopefully start some new traditions in the process.

New knitters are getting hooked on this wonderful addiction everyday. It doesn't take long to get comfortable enough with the process and start enjoying the benefits, which have been equated with yoga and meditation.

We are increasing the number of classes this month. Come in and sign up to reserve your spot.
